

Consent to Electronic Delivery

By signing this document, you consent to the receipt of all account-related documents through electronic delivery, understanding paper form documents will not be mailed by Bison.

Bison will provide account documents or notification of document availability by email. If we are unable to notify you electronically, you understand we may discontinue electronic delivery at our discretion and send all documents to you, the Client, in paper form. Account documents will be made available in Portable Document Format (PDF) and may be printed and saved.

Electronic delivery will begin after processing this signed Consent and will remain in effect indefinitely, unless revoked by either party of this agreement (Bison or Client).

You understand electronic delivery will expose your documents to the normal risks associated with internet communication. Bison does not charge a fee for electronic delivery. To receive documents electronically, the client must have access to an internet-accessible computer capable of reading PDF documents (i.e. Adobe Acrobat). A free version of Adobe Acrobat Reader is available at www.adobe.com.

You may revoke your consent to electronic delivery at any time by emailing operations@bisonria.com. Your revocation will become effective after we process your request; all future account documentation will be mailed in paper form to your address on file. You agree to update Bison of any change in email or mailing addresses. By signing this document, you consent to electronic delivery.
